WILL THEY BECOME WISE?

General Clinton B. Fisk did not attend the late New Jersey prohibition convention, and his absence is beginning to excite considerable comment. Did he keep away to show his disapproval of the extremists, who apparently have the republican party far more than they do the saloons? It must be admitted that it looks so. — Boston Journal.

There is no doubt but that the last campaign had a deep effect upon General Fisk. He expected that the third party would poll half a million votes. He fully expected that General Harrison would be defeated. He was no doubt convinced that the third party sentiment was so wide spread that its influence would be felt in the campaign. He was disappointed. His hopes were blasted. His cherished cause cut no figure in the campaign, and these facts doubtless weigh upon his mind.

Then, again, General Fisk has seen the disastrous effects of the third party movement on the temperance question in New Jersey. The course of the third party in that state has very much retarded the progress of the temperance movement in that state. Clinton B. Fisk can explain this very plainly, and in this reason he was in no frame of mind to attend the convention. Whether or not the general will desert the third party and return to the republican ranks, is not certain. But however this may be, there cannot be any doubt that he does not entertain the extreme views of the ultra third party men.

There are a good many republicans who are in sympathy with General Fisk on the temperance question. They want to see the saloons driven out of existence; but they want the battle against them fought on practical grounds, and not go into the outlandish with prohibition or nothing. The New York Voice, the prohibition organ, cries: "On to Washington for a national prohibitory law!" If that be the watchword, then the saloons are safe. It does seem that General Fisk must carry that banner or nothing. He is too good a business man for that.

A GOOD MOVEMENT.

There is some wisdom, and also a little practical sense, left in the south. The Augusta, Georgia, Chronicle informs its readers that the "no-called robber tariff" yielded to the government in 1888 over $213,000,000, at which $60,000,000 was for the protection of farm products; grow oranges, lemons, rice, molasses, sugar and tobacco." So the farmers and planters of the south are forming themselves into a sort of a protective league. They never before clearly understood the effect of protection on the industries of the country. They have been in the habit of denouncing the tariff because the democratic party told them to do so. They never once seemed to think that it built up cities, created a market for grain and all kinds of produce coming from the far, that it was a practical thing just as steam is practical in locomotion.

But since Birmingham was founded, and Atlanta has quadrupled its population, and Macon has taken such wonderful strides, the southern farmer and planter sees something in protection. He actually sees prosperity and protection in it, and now he is becoming in favor of it. The southern farmer is beginning to learn that "all the agricultural nations that have prospered during the last half century have abandoned free trade and adopted a protective policy. Germany with low tariffs exported wheat and grain in large quantities; under protection the empire has developed a home market which consumes nearly all the produce of the farms. The United States has protected a home market which consumes nine-tenths of all the farm produce of the country. Sweden, after years of agricultural depression and free trade, has adopted a protective policy."

Without this "robber tariff" there would not be any Birmingham, no modern Atlanta, no Macon, none of the prosperity that the Augusta Chronicle boasts of.

THE EDITORIAL OUTING.

[Editorial Correspondence.]
St. Paul, Minn., July 27, 1889.—The press association and excursion halved four hours at Taylor Falls and enjoyed the rare sights of trap rock pot-holed by action of water and salt, scrambled up precipices of ledge and ate as usual; and in the afternoon spent four hours at White Bear Lake boasting upon one of Minnesota's famous sheets, and again eating, and speech-making, and at 6:06 o'clock found themselves at the Ryan Hotel at St. Paul. A drive about the city till eight o'clock revealed the metropolis in its upward march, very greatly to the surprise of the brethren who had heard only, from a far, of the size, beauty and peculiarities of the town lying at the head of Mississippi navigation. The local gentlemen of the press banqueted the Badgers at the Ryan, and with the usual amount of speech making in flippant phrase the Press Association dissolved at a late hour Tuesday evening—most of its members going to their homes direct, after viewing the sights of the cities.

The excursion passed in a decided success in every respect. To mobilize 200 people, carry them five hundred miles by rail, debarking them many times, providing for all personal conveniences, leaving none as unwilling guests at strange places, and meeting no accidents brings to President B. THE CRIMINAL RECORD.

GEN. JONES' MURDERER SOMEWHAT PERTURBED.

Suicided by Shooting Himself in a Rowboat—The Crown Suspects Arraigned—Criminal News.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, July 30.—Charles Blythe, the murderer of General Jones, shot himself at breakfast this morning with a good appetite, and soon afterward recognized a reporter whom he had seen the morning before at the Jones house. "You are the man I shot," he said. "I am the man," he said, "Saturday morning at Colonel Jones' house. They all said I was not there, but I was and you saw me. Yes, sir, I was there and felt the horses," and he seemed to take credit to himself for having ventured into that stable where his crime had been committed only an hour or two before the discovery of the remains of his victim. He was taken into the police court this morning and with very little ceremony committed to jail to await the action of the grand jury. As he left the court room to go to jail he said: "I feel mighty bad this morning."

THE CROWN SUSPECTS.

Coughlin, Beggs, O'Sullivan, Woodruff, and Jones were arraigned in the police court in the morning and under arrest for the murder of Dr. John Jones. They were committed to the county jail Monday morning before Judge Horton.

NO DANGER OF EVICTION.

Spring Valley Operators Prefer to Have Their Homes Occupied.

SPRING VALLEY, Ill., July 30.—The operators here do not seem inclined to push the eviction of tenants any further than a few days' notice, the limit of which has now expired. They consider it a wiser policy to allow their locked out employees to occupy the tenements rather than throw them out and board up the same, on the principle that a house is better off when it is inhabited than when it is vacant. They prefer to have them occupied because they are valuable until the mines are started again. By allowing the miners to stay in their homes they can collect rent from the time of the lockout until a settlement is arrived at. Also they do not desire to stir up any more enmity among the men than now exists.

MINERS QUIET AT KANGLEY.

STREATOR, Ill., July 30.—Everything is quiet among the miners at Kangley. Company A of the Fourth regiment left Monday for Springfield. Many of the miners entertain a deep feeling of hostility towards the militia, but no demonstration has been made. The testimony in the arbitration case has been sent to Chicago. J. E. Williams, the Streator member of the board, goes to Chicago Wednesday to confer with Messrs. Reed and Gage. The men will quietly await their decision, which, according to the articles of agreement, must be rendered on or before Aug. 7.

TROOPS HELD IN READINESS.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 30.—Col. Bennett of the Fourth regiment, now at Camp Lincoln, has issued orders requiring all men to remain in camp subject to immediate duty. It is believed that an outbreak at Braidwood is feared. Acting Governor Ray says he has no official information of a threatened outbreak.

FIGHTING INSECTS.

How to Get Rid of Cockroaches, Bed Bugs, and Fleas.

"When I moved into my new flat last winter," said a Harlem housekeeper to a New York Mail and Express reporter, "I was bothered greatly with cockroaches and little red ants. It wasn't a perfectly new house, and one family had lived in my rooms for three months. That was long enough, as I learned to my cost, to get cockroaches, and I had given up in despair, when some one advised me to give them cucumbers. I strewed the floor with a lot of the peel very thin, and was amazed to see how voraciously the pests ate it. It killed them, and after three night's trial I had no more cockroaches."

"I had more trouble with red ants and I am inclined to think it may be true that they can never be gotten rid of entirely. I found, though, that powdered sulphur scattered around the closet shelves in a good thing, and I am told that if carbolie acid is left in a saucer and allowed to evaporate it will kill them. I have children, though, and am very timid about having poison around."

"This summer I have been troubled greatly with flies, as I guess everybody else is, and I am waiting for the cold weather to come, when I shall make war on them. Of course I try to keep them out now, but I can't. I have learned, though, that they bite in the warm cracks and crevices through the winter, and it will be exceedingly cold weather if I don't find them. I saw the other day in some foreign paper that oil of bay would keep house flies away and I am going to try it."

TAPEWORMS.

The Majority of Cases in Human Beings Can Be Traced to Dogs.

Dr. W. N. Boylston of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat says: The new science of bacteriology has shown some very peculiar facts and one of the most peculiar among them is the fact of how many people come to be victims of tapeworm. It is now proved beyond almost any doubt that the majority of cases of tapeworm can be traced to dogs. It is a rare thing for dogs to have tapeworms. According to the nature of the dog he licks himself and in doing so eggs of the tapeworm on his tongue. The dog invariably shows his love for his master by licking him on the hand and it is the custom of some ladies to allow their pugs and poodles to even lick them on the face. The dog's tongue is the tape-worm lodged in the master's mouth with his hand, and the master licks his mouth with his hand, and the egg of the tapeworm is thus taken into his mouth and swallowed. The tapeworm egg is so small that it can hardly be seen by the naked eye.

A German physician of high standing examined the remains of a large number of people in the morgue in a German city and found eggs of the tapeworm lodged with the dirt under the finger nails. This explanation for the eggs being found under the finger nails was that these persons had been fondling their dogs. From the facts that are known, and the theory that has been promulgated it is certainly advisable to compel the canines to exhibit their affection at a safe distance. There is a strong hint, however, for the ladies who are accustomed to having poodles and pugs in their laps.

DEITY IN THE CONSTITUTION.

Washington Delegates Quarrel Over the Question—Other Conventions.

OLYMPIA, W. T., July 30.—There was an exciting discussion in the convention over the proposition to put the name of the Deity in the preamble to the constitution. Every speaker professed the greatest reverence for God, but some feared that it might be construed to mean the union of church and State, while others said nothing purely sentimental should go into the constitution. In the afternoon the section was hurriedly reformed back to the committee without further discussion. The other sections of the preamble were adopted.

HELENA, M. T., July 30.—The convention adopted a motion giving the Legislature power to adjust the salaries of State officers as occasion demands. As specified, the Governor's salary is fixed at $5,000, and those of the Secretary of State, Auditor, Attorney-General, and treasurer at $3,000 each.

BISMARCK, D. T., July 30.—Less than a quorum answered to roll-call and the convention adjourned without transacting any business. Prohibition is making no headway, woman suffrage is dead, and railroad taxation is the one question which gives an opportunity for a fight. The railroads hope to preserve the gross earnings system, and some of the farmer members of the convention oppose it.

STOUT PAULS, D. T., July 30.—Only six delegates were present, and the convention adjourned without transacting any business.

Has Not Asked for a Receiver.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 30.—Judge Stevenson Burke says of the report that a receiver is to be asked for the Columbia, Hooking alley & Toledo road: "The bondholders, according to the terms of the bond, can not take any action until after there has been a default extending to six months. In other words, the bondholders will have to wait until March next before they obtain redress. In the meantime an extension of six months may prove of incalculable value to the stockholders and bondholders, as business may pick up to a certain extent to recoup their recent losses."

Brazil Will Be Represented.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Cable advices from Rio Janeiro state that the Imperial Government of Brazil has appointed a commissioner to represent that country in the International Congress to be held at Washington in October next, headed by Senator La Fayette Rodrigues Pereira, counselor of State, and Counselor Salvador de Mendonca, Consul-General of Brazil in the United States. The commission sailed from Rio de Janeiro on July 24. The commission is also authorized to negotiate a treaty of commerce between Brazil and the United States.

Wisconsin Tobacco Crop Damaged.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 30.—Dispatches from the tobacco growing districts of this State indicate that the recent storm of great damage. A special report from Clinton says the tobacco in that vicinity was destroyed by the severe hailstorm Saturday. It was ready to be topped, making the damage irreparable. Near Delavan, a heavy storm of sleet did great damage to the tobacco crop, several fine fields near Delavan being entirely destroyed. At Palmyra, hailstones as big as marbles, as reported and the tobacco crop in the vicinity was destroyed.

Dis Debar in a Convent.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Mme. F. L. Dis Debar, for the present, at least, disappeared from the public gaze and will seek within a convent's walls a refuge from all cares and troubles. It is said that she has been unsuccessful in earning her living lately, and that she had been turned from the house at which she was stopping. Some friends, hearing of her plight, took her to a Brooklyn convent, where she will be cared for as long as she chooses to stay. It is said that she is insane.

Canadian Canals Unprofitable.

OTTAWA, Canada, July 30.—The Canadian press is endeavoring to prove that so far the dominion canals have resulted in a failure to retain the carrying trade of the West on the Canadian route. The figures in the case are now being used in opposing the expenditure of $12,000,000, which the Canadian government proposes to lay out on canal improvements.

Heirs to $51,000,000.

MARSHALL, Mo., July 30.—Information has just been received that the estate of a man named Fisher, who died in Germany some years ago, is about to divide among the American heirs, of whom there are seventy-two, twenty-two of them living in this country and several in Illinois. The estate is valued at $51,000,000.

A Big Massachusetts Firm Fails.

LYNN, Mass., July 30.—L. A. May & Co., one of the largest house-furnishing and plumbing establishments in New England outside of Boston, made an assignment. The company did a business last year of $390,000.

The Gatesburg Embroiderment.

GALLSBURG, Ill., July 30.—The examination of the books of the O. T. Johnson company, which has been completed, showed, it is said, that Howarth, the embroiling book keeper, began stealing from the company shortly after he entered its employ in April, 1886. It is believed that the total shortage will reach $4,000 or $5,000, but the company refuses to divulge the amount.

An Illicit Still Captured.

DEBUIRE, Iowa, July 30.—On Saturday night a party of revenue officers, under the command of Agent Clark of St. Louis, captured the largest and most complete illicit-whisky still ever found in the State. It was located on the farm of John Dolan, fourteen miles from Dubuque. Dolan made some resistance and finally managed to escape.

INDIANA SCHOOL BOOKS.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 30.—The receipt of numerous letters from township trustees saying they would not introduce the new school text books into the schools under their charge, induced the Superintendent of Public Instruction to call for an exposition of the law from the Attorney-General and a reply has been given. In his opinion the subject of the State's legal adviser says that if a trustee fails to obey any command of the new school book law he will violate the conditions of his bonds, and will be liable in damages in an action thereon brought by any person injured by reason of such violation. No books shall be used in the schools of any certain text where those books are contracted for under the law except those provided for in such contract, uniformity of books being one of the objects of the law. The company receiving the contract has filed a bond of $25,000, and the Governor's proclamation declaring the contract in force was issued Tuesday.

OUR CITY GOVERNMENT.

Regular Meeting of the Common Council Last Evening.

PETITIONS & COMPLAINTS.

The Slaughter Houses—The Water Works—Nuisances—Miscellaneous Business.

The common council held a regular meeting last evening at the city hall, His Honor, Mayor St. John, occupying the chair, and all the aldermen answered to the roll call except Aldermen Conrad, Casey and Jackson.

The reading of the journals of the last meeting was dispensed with. The clerk presented the April, May and June reports of the city treasurer. Referred to the finance committee.

Two hundred and forty-nine residents of the third and fourth wards joined in sending a petition requesting the council to cause the removal of the slaughter houses located on the river bank in the same to be an intolerable nuisance and an obstacle to the building of homes in that part of the city. On the motion of Ald. Horn the petition was referred to the judicial committee, the city attorney and health officer.

An invitation was read by the city clerk from St. John to send delegates to convention to be held in that city. Accepted and placed on file.

A report from the street commissioner was read, recommending the building of certain sidewalks in the second ward. Referred to second ward aldermen.

The clerk read a batch of miscellaneous bills against the several funds. Referred to the finance committee.

A petition signed by majority of the property owners on Prospect avenue, asking the council to cause certain portions of the avenue to be graded, was read and referred to the highway, street and bridge committee.

Ald. Jackson took his seat. Ald. Baker, of the finance committee, reported in favor of allowing sundry bills against the several funds aggregating as follows:

General fund—$115 56
Highway fund—26 25
Gas fund—748 70
Fire fund—75 36
First ward fund—66 29
Second ward fund—16 25
Third ward fund—124 35
Fourth ward fund—28 25
Bridges fund—60 70Total—$1,383 00
The report was concurred in.

Ald. McLean offered an order for the payment of two dollars each to several call firemen and five dollars each to the engineers of the fire steamers, on account of extra services at the opera house fire. Adopted.

Ald. McLean, of the fire and water committee, stated that the gas bills from the engine houses indicated that something was wrong, stating that for the last three months the bill for gas at the west side house was $18, while at the east side house the bill was for $43, the chief engineer claiming that there was as much gas burned in one house as the other.

Ald. McLean thought there must be something wrong, and on his motion the gas committee was directed to investigate the matter.

Ald. McLean also stated that within a few days he had been learned that the board of trustees of Broadhead were now considering the question of purchasing one of our fire steamers, and that they would probably take definite action on the question within a few days.

Ald. Jackson, of the special committee to whom was referred the petition of C. T. Wilcox and others in relation to a gutter on South River street, reported the matter back to the council with the recommendation that it be left in the hands of the fourth ward aldermen. Adopted.

Ald. Jackson, of the special committee, reported that the fourth ward and central fire steamers had been filled with earth at a cost of fifteen cents a yard; that the contractor, Mr. Kennedy, had some more earth which could be had to fill the other steamers if the council desired; he thought if the other steamers were to be filled that it would be the best policy to secure this filling.

The matter was left in the hands of the committee.

Ald. Thoroughgood, of the highway, street and bridge committee, asked and was granted further time to consider the bids for furnishing the city with lumber and sewer pipe.

The city clerk read the following: AN ORDINANCE to prevent the improper use of public fountains, hydrants and water mains.

Section 1.—No person shall, under any authority, take, remove, or carry away, from any public display, or other fountain, within the city of Janesville, any water for any purpose or purposes whatever, or from any hydrant, water main, or pipe, provided, nothing in this ordinance shall be construed as prohibiting the watering of horses at the public drinking fountains.

Section 2.—Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this ordinance, shall be punished by fine, not exceeding $10 or less than $5.

Section 3.—This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the passage and publication.

Ald. Thoroughgood—Who presented that ordinance?

City Attorney—I prepared it at the request of Superintendent Howe, of the Water Company.

Ald. Thoroughgood—The water company is very persistent in asking the city to grant favors, but are very slow to fulfill their obligations to the city. I have repeatedly called Supt. Howe's attention to the condition of North Main street and he has neglected to place the same in proper condition where water pipe has been laid. In some places the gutters are interfered with by the pipe layer, and the company neglected to place the same in condition. I shall oppose granting the company any further privileges until some respect is paid to the rights of the city.

No action was taken on the ordinance.

Ald. Horn, for a tile culvert across Academy street on the south side of Pleasant. Adopted.

Ald. Baker—for the repair of corn exchange east of the fountain. Adopted.

Ald. Thoroughgood—instructing the city engineer to report the best means of carrying off the water on Prospect avenue between Wisconsin street and Milton avenue. Adopted.

Ald. Hanthorn—for a gas lamp on Milton avenue near the Evenson property. Referred to gas committee.

Ald. Thoroughgood—to notify certain property owners in the second ward to build sidewalks. Adopted.

Ald. McLean—for repairing of Linn street. Adopted.

Ald. Horn—for the repair of Galea street in the fourth ward. Adopted.

Ald. Baker stated that he had heard frequent complaints concerning impure water furnished by the water company. He stated that the water furnished at the city hospital had a very bad smell and was unfit for use. Many complaints had been made to him by water takers residing in the first ward who were compelled to obtain other water fearing to use that furnished by the water company. He thought the company had not blown off the hydrants sufficiently to have pure water in the mains. He had spoken to the company's superintendent about the matter and that officer claimed the hydrants had been regularly opened.

Considerable discussion ensued on this matter it being generally conceded that the water company was endeavoring to economize on fuel at the expense of pure and wholesome water for water consumers. Replying to a question, the city attorney informed the council that according to the provision of the franchise of the water company the city could compel the water company to furnish a plentiful supply of pure and wholesome water to consumers.

On motion of Ald. Baker the city clerk was directed to serve a notice on the Janesville Water Co. to furnish consumers "pure and wholesome water," in accordance with the franchise.

—We notice Mr. R. L. Lillburn on a fine new pony cart. The fact of its being made by Heller & Company is a guarantee of its being a first class rig and a credit to the firm.

—Many of our citizens had business in Janesville on last Friday. Of course they never thought of the circus being there.

—Miss Genevieve Kyhl, of Chicago, is visiting her uncle, Mr. Duncan McArthur, at this place.

—Misses Nettie Boynton, Bettie Cheney and Lavinia Guilie, left on Tuesday for Evansville, where they will visit relatives and friends.

—W. B. Squires and father, of Los Angeles, California, called on friends at this place last week. They both look well and hearty, and report everything in the vicinity of Los Angeles flourishing.

—The threshing outfit owned by Messrs. Ransom & Reader passed through this place Monday. It is a handy rig and we bespeak for the owner a good season.

—The hail storm which visited this place last Saturday afternoon was the most severe of the kind seen for many years. The hail struck down a mile wide and did considerable damage to corn and standing grain. Several pieces of tobacco were totally destroyed, and are being plowed under. The hail stones were as large as walnuts.

—Mr. Forest Pond, of Evansville, visited his sister, Mrs. James Gillies this week.

Outrageous.

The unknown or unusual has always great weight, and the Billingsgate fishwife who was reduced to silence by hearing herself called a "paralithogram" showed a shrinking composure to humanity.

"Jim Farley's been calling me names!" sobbed a little colored boy, coming home from school one day.

"What did he call you—nigger?" asked the sympathizing mother.

"No; wasn't that."

"Blackie!"

"Soot-bag! Ink-bottle!"

"No; no!"

"What was it, then?"

"He called me," sobbed the wretched boy, "the callus-eyed Ziegler!"
